I could send you next week the synopsis and treatment of a film in which Italo-American fraternity is portrayed through the vicissitudes of American ^{and} English escaped prisoners of war hiding with Italian peasants in the zone still occupied by the Germans. The film also contains various episodes of the struggle of Italian partisans against the Germans. I am also going to make a novel out of the theme of this film. I need urgently to know if you can act as my agents to place this film story with a leading producer, if I am to send you immediately the synopsis and treatment, (which have already been translated into English), and if I may also write the scenario.
