

begin to arrive in town and demonstrated less conservatively.

The 5-party appeal printed in La Stampa di Torino on Monday morning urging discipline for continuation of the war was certainly not signed by socialists,

probably not by the Catholics (who would never sign such a document as the communists) and is believed by S. to be an "invention" of Pagzer, whose group met as a Partito d'Azione when -- since Fiat owns La Stampa.
